

In College Composition second semester, students researched and blogged about a current global problem analyzing its causes, effects, potential solutions, and ways in which their peers can help bring shalom to the chaos. They wrote six blogs and created a podcast in which they interviewed a local "expert" on their topic. Students interviewed everyone from a pastor to a doctor to a state legislator! Click on the following links to browse through several of their blogs.

Kandace Hofman:

www.refugeesyriacrisis.weebly.com

Makenna Van Dyke:

www.helpinghandforchildpoverty.weebly.com

Rebekah Lanferman:

www.savingwaves.weebly.com

Kaley Wilson:

povertyeducationaroundtheworld.weebly.com

Alex Huisman:

<http://developingcountryhealthcare.weebly.com/>

Thomas Dykstra:

www.landoftherisingseas.weebly.com

Mark Vande Haar:

<http://nofoodnopeople.weebly.com/>

Josie Te Grotenhuis:

<http://globalmodernslavery.weebly.com/>

Nick Theune

www.warmerearth.weebly.com